CLASS POLICIES

All classes have limited enrollment. Sign up early to make sure you have a place in the class that you wish to take Quilters' Compass may cancel any class with fewer than four students, but reserves the right to operate with less than four students, at its discretion. If a class is canceled because of adverse weather conditions or emergencies, Quilters' Compass reserves the right to reschedule, and will attempt to accommodate everyone's schedule. Unless a class is cancelled by Quilters' Compass, there will be no make-up classes for students who miss a scheduled class.

Class fees must be paid in full at sign-up. Class fees are not refundable unless the class is canceled by Quilters' Compass. Once the class fee is paid, you will receive a supply list. Unless stated in the class description, many classes require some homework to allow you to finish the quilt top in the allotted time. Unless stated in the class description, all classes require you to bring your sewing machine to class.

Please note that classes are strictly for paying students. Guests are always welcome in our shop, but may not sit in on classes. In addition, children may be a distraction for our students and will not be allowed in class.

In Pass Classes, space is not guaranteed from one Pass session to another. There is no automatic re-registration. Quilters are responsible for their own registration for each session, not the management of Quilters' Compass. If you wish to maintain continuous registration, make sure you sign up and pay at the appropriate times or prepay in advance to avoid last minute disappointment.
